

Trust in God's Love

Today's verse is from one of the psalms of David. If we are familiar with the Scriptures and with David's life, we know that David was not a perfect man. And his life was certainly not a walk through the park as we would imagine a king's life to be.

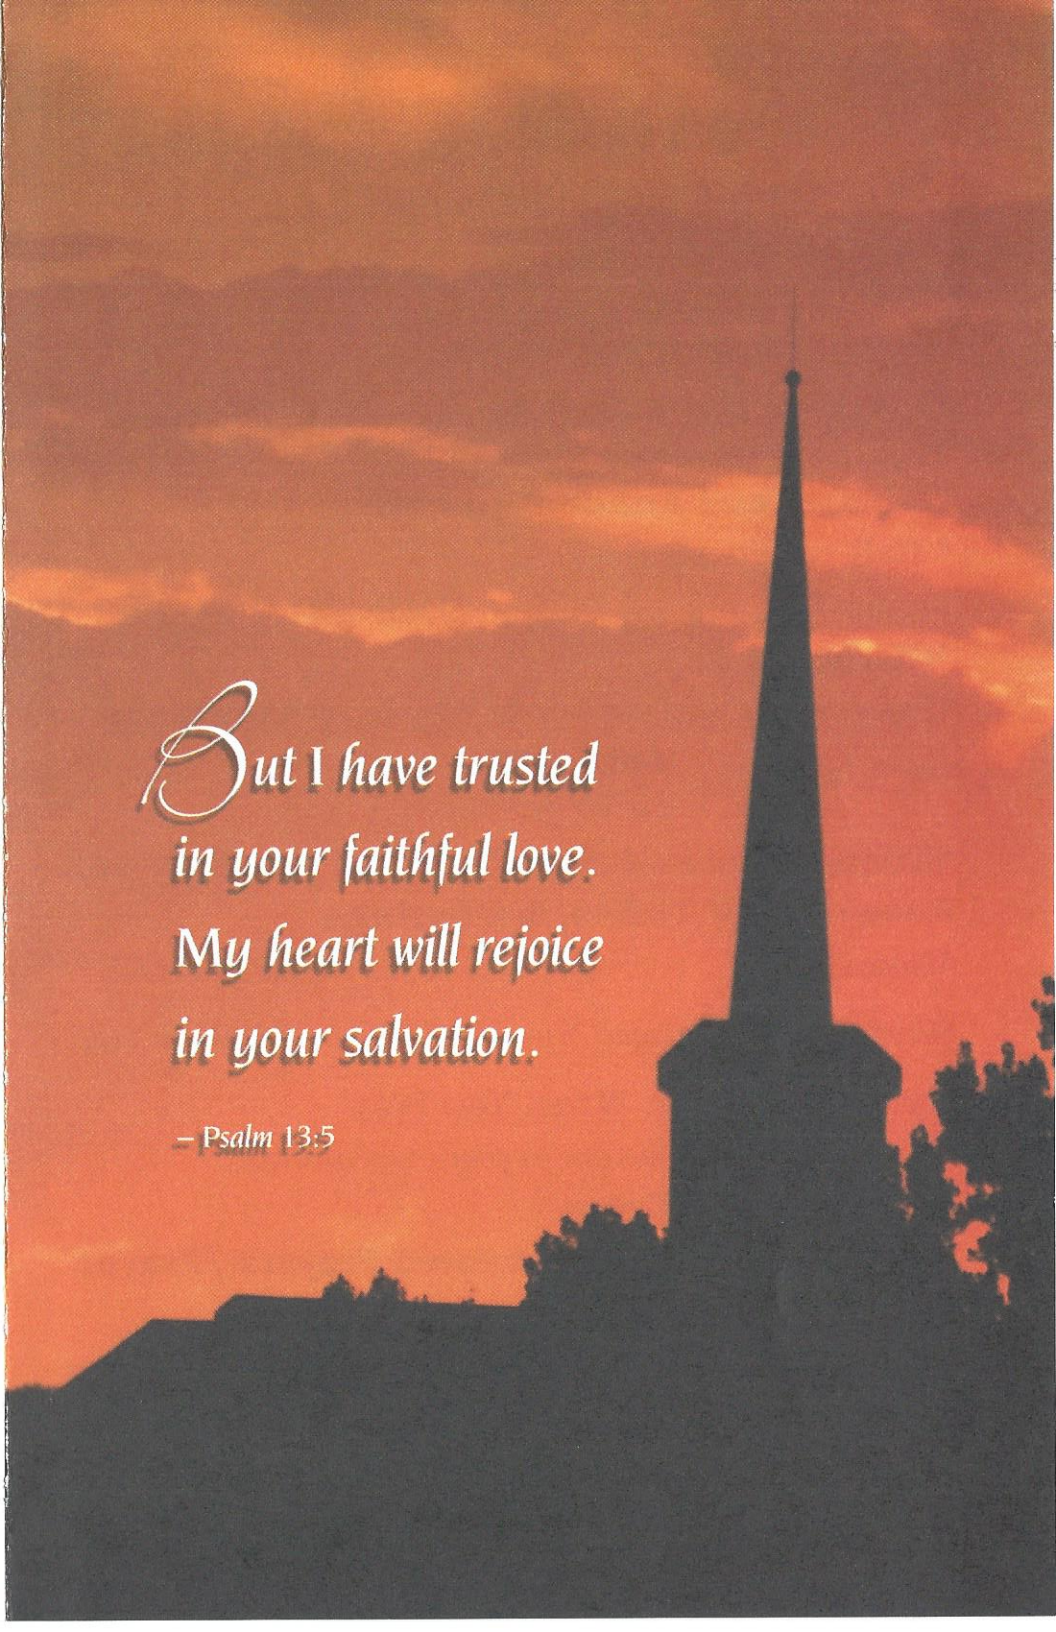

He went from being a shepherd boy to a hero for killing Goliath. He was anointed by Saul to be the king of Israel—but he had to face many setbacks before he claimed the throne. He went from using his music to comfort King Saul to being hunted like an animal by Saul and his men. And even when he became king, he faced many trials and had to answer for his sins.

But in spite of all that, David was a man after God's own heart. He continued to trust God and to praise God for saving him from his sins. David held on to the promises of God's salvation even when he was disobedient; even when he willingly went against God's will for his life.

How much do we trust God? When it looks like everything is against us—when doubt and sin overwhelm us—do we continue to praise God? God is the one rock we can find refuge in even in the worst of times.

My prayer for you this day is that you continue to trust in God's love and continue to rejoice in the salvation God has given you. These are the things that keep us through both good times and not so good times. Praise God! God is faithful!

*But I have trusted
in your faithful love.
My heart will rejoice
in your salvation.*
